1. 1.May 13 Chapter Event: Planner as Trainer: How to Do More with Less & Achieve Greater Results

Training is the building blocks of preparedness and the key to the successful execution of your continuity program. Having your entire organization be aware, educated and knowledgeable about continuity, recovery and crisis management is your road map to success. Learn how to design, develop and deploy an effective and powerful training presentation where people are engaged, equipped and empowered to take action. Learn how to increase training quality, train more people in less time, and maximize training objectives while reducing expenses. This strategy effectively trains your constituents across the organization, irrespective of geography, when it is convenient for the student to participate.

More specifically this session will cover:

- Defining Training Objectives
- Reviewing Budget
- Establishing ROI & Value Proposition
- Training Management & Tracking
- How to Get Started
